Treasure Island Video idea

Hello! I am Psychotrap and I, as I'm sure you are, I am a

Animal Crossing fan, having just recently gotten back into it, I have decided that I will make a video about Treasure Islands, as well as give a unique type of thing to this video to differ it from other videos about the Animal Crossing Treasure Islands, I put quite a bit of work into this, so I'd really appreciate it if you could show some support, also, as I had gotten most of my information on Treasure Islands from google and other Youtuber's videos, some information may not be completely accurate, so if you know some of the information is false or fake, please let me know in the comments, and also, some footage and music used in this video are NOT (let me repeat, NOT mine), and so I have put them into a credits thing at the end of the video (you can also find the links to the video and channel in the description of the video), and before I run off, this video will have the sections split up and off into chapters to make it easier for me to record, so if you can kind of just skip to certain sections if you wish, and with all of that out of the way and done with me talking, time to get on to the rest of the video!

Chapter 1: What is a Treasure Island?

What exactly is a treasure island?

A treasure island is a player's island that is either hacked or modded, in which the island's often have rows of every item in the entire game (rather if they are still able to be obtained or not), in which player's can find the Dodo codes to enter treasure islands either off of Youtube live streams or Twitch live streams (personal preference is Twitch streams), essentially, it lets a player enter the island and take whatever it is they desire to obtain for free from a treasure island and get to take it home with them (hints the name "treasure Island").

The uses of treasure Islands

Okay, so the uses of Treasure Islands are basically just this, you can basically just get clothing, materials, bells (basically money), items, or event specific items, or whatever else it is that you desire to get, from these places, and apparently, some Treasure Islands also have villagers (in which the use for this can be used to get character specific villagers to your island without the potential hours and waste of Nook Miles tickets, so if your favorite villager was Cherry for example, you could go to a Treasure Island and get Cherry to invite to your island as a villager, if you wanted Raymond, you can go to a Treasure Island and invite Raymond, and so on and so forth) and those are the uses of Treasure Islands.

And the long awaited answer of Treasure Islands, can you get banned using them?

Simple answer: No, you cannot get banned using Treasure Islands.

Long answer: You cannot get banned by using Treasure Islands since you as a player (unless you're the one hosting a Treasure Island or have hacked your Switch) but if you have not done those two things, then you cannot get banned since you never hacked or modded your game or animal crossing game or island, therefore, the only one who COULD get banned is the people hosting the Treasure Islands, NOT the people using them since they are simply just joining them and taking what they will, not having to go through the process themselves.

Chapter 2: The Requirements

The Requirements

So, just to make sure we're on the same page, I'm gonna give you a list of requirements to even JOIN Treasure Islands.

1. A Nintendo Switch or Nintendo Switch 2: This is obvious since this is the exact hardware that Animal Crossing New Horizons works on, so obviously you will need these two to even be able to play it.

2. Animal Crossing New Horizons: This is also obvious as you will need the game to be able to even play it, though, for those wondering, the version of the game does not matter, so if you have the Switch 1 or Switch 2 edition of Animal Crossing New Horizons, it will not matter as they will both work the same (I assume so anyways).

The Requirements (Continued)

3. The Nintendo Switch Online Membership: Yup, you will need a Nintendo Switch online membership to even access the Treasure Islands since they are online, but if you don't have the online membership, don't worry, it's only 5 bucks a month (if I remember correctly or unless they changed it), so it's not too much, but yeah, unfortunately Treasure Islands are Online so you will need a online Membership.

The Optional things

So alongside what is required, here are also some optional things that (I personally) think you should do if you plan to visit a Treasure Island.

1. Empty your pockets: This is simple, put them in your house's storage, this will require you to have a house, but I'm sure you have a house because why else would you be trying to enter a Treasure Island and NOT have a house built by now?
2. A Pocket Organizer: Either this or the pro organizer will do, (The normal pro organizer will give you one extra 10 slots of storage to hold up to and the pro organizer will give you other extra 10 slots, but since you get the pro organizer last, you'll have 40 slots instead of 30), I suggest this because it means you can hold up to more things, if you don't know where to find this, you can get it at the nook millage shop at Residents Services (which is the big tent at the start of the game that Tom Nook is often at, or building if you've gotten that far).

Chapter 3: How (I) go to Treasure Islands

How I go to a treasure Island

So unlike other Treasure Island videos, I am going to show you how I (yes me) goes to treasure islands as most Treasure Island videos often have people telling you how to go to Treasure Islands or what to do at one, so I decided to be different in the Animal Crossing Treasure Island introduction list and decided that I would show you all how I myself go to Treasure Islands instead, so here we go Island Residents! (see what I did there?)

The steps of how I go to a Treasure Island

So after I do all of the optional requirements (meaning that I threw the stuff in my pockets into my house storage), I run off to the airport, where I will do the usual to go to a treasure island. After I talk to the Dodo bird, you want to click the option that says “I wanna fly!”, then after that press “I wanna visit someone.”, then click “Via online play.”, after that, the airplane dodo bird will start connecting to the internet. After he connects you to the internet, he’ll ask you how you want to travel, in which you click the option that says “Search Via Dodo Code.” then after that, he’ll ask for the Dodo code, and this is the part where you’ll either go to Youtube or Twitch (I personally prefer to use Twitch), and then search either “Treasure Island Animal Crossing” or “Animal Crossing Treasure Islands” (I use the 2nd option).

The steps of how I go to a Treasure Island (continued)

Then once you search, you want to try and click on the one that has the least views (on the stream), then once you find the one (they'll usually look something like this, you'll want to find a server that has as LEAST people as possible (Meaning they have close as little or no players at all), but also make sure they have actual Dodo codes (don't use the ones that say "!Sub" as those require you to subscribe to the channel, and that just means more fees you pay (you're trying to pay off Tom Nook's fees after all most likely), so once you find one, you want to put in the Dodo code (they will usually just be the ones with letters and numbers), and once you got those, input the Dodo code and give it to the airplane Dodo bird and he'll send you to the island (keep in mind that if a player on the island has their phone or storage open, I'm unsure about expressions, then the Dodo bird will say there is interference and then he'll ask you if you want to cancel the trip or try again , or something like that, so keep trying to enter the island until he either lets you enter the island or until you give up and try another island, but if it works, then congrats! You just entered the Treasure Island!

What to do at a Treasure Island?

So, once you're at a treasure Island, if you want to get Bells (basically money), you don't want to get the Bell bags, you'll actually want to get the items: Gold Ingots (I think that's what they are called, but they look like golden crystals), and pearls, then sell them to Timmy and Tommy at Nook's Cranny (or if you haven't unlocked Nook's Cranny, just sell it to Timmy (or Tommy, I can't remember), at the Residents Service Tent, and if you want to get other items, you can! Want Mario's hat? Get it! Want Luigi's? Get it! You can basically get anything from the game if you want it! (Just beware about getting hacked or modded items, as those can break your game, so it's often safe to get items you know you can get in Animal Crossing).

What to do at a Treasure Island? (Continued)

Of course, that's not all, remember the Villager thing I was talking about earlier? Well, if you have a free spot (like a free house spot or something and you are trying to get your favorite villager but don't want to go villager hunting for it), then you can get those villagers from treasure islands as well! (keep in mind, you will have the search different Treasure Islands as not all Treasure Islands will have free villagers to get), from what I know, you can use your phone to check the map and see what residents are there, you know, to make sure there will be a villager you even care for, but if there if, you can find their house at the end of the map (or possibly by the sides of the map, I don't know, I'm new to the villager part of treasure islands, and from what I know, if they are having boxes being moved, you can invite them (and if they don't, then you can still try if you wish I guess?, but anyways, if it gives you a option on where you can ask them to go to your island and you want to, then do it, then congrats! Know you have a Villager at your island! Yay!

When you're done at a Treasure Island.

When you're done at a Treasure Island, you ALWAYS want to go back to the Dodo airlines building and exit through there, do NOT use the minus button to exit it, as I think that can break the treasure Island and possibly anything you've collected not saving, so yeah. But once you get back to your home with whatever it is you wanted to get, then you have done it, and you are now fully ready to do any of this on your own! But if you do so much as wish as to use this as a guide or to refresh yourself, you're always welcome to!

Chapter 4: The “me” footage (yes, that’s what I called this, it’s just the real life footage I recorded which took way longer than it needed to be)
